

Art Appreciation Online

EXPLORE · DISCOVER · DESIGN · INSPIRE

Art Appreciation (Art 1010) is an interactive online course offered by the College of Arts and Humanities that explores the beauty and worth of artistic creations. By studying the historic, contemporary, and day-to-day, students will discover the means and ideas promoting human visual expression.

This course satisfies Harding University's "creative spirit" liberal arts requirements and is offered online FREE to high school students for 3 hours dual credit.

If you would like to develop a stronger understanding and appreciation of the visual arts, this course will provide a great foundation. By studying the fine arts, you can enhance perceptual and cognitive skills, and discover your own creative capacities!

For more information, contact Tessa Davidson, tdavidson@harding.edu or call 501-279-4426.